"I am a part of everything that I have read."

Theodore Roosevelt

The Friends of the Panama Canal Museum Collection at the University of Florida is composed of individuals who want to help preserve, highlight and provide online access to Panama and Panama Canal related resources.

Uniquely qualified to preserve and provide access to these collections, the George A. Smathers Libraries have one of the largest and most respected Latin American repositories in the world. The Libraries are a Center of Excellence for Panama Canal Commission documents, host the Digital Library of the Caribbean and provide access to many Panama and Canal related materials via the UF Digital Collection at <http://ufdc.ufl.edu/pcm>.

With the transfer of the Panama Canal Museum Collection completed in 2012, over 20,000 objects, photos, books and maps have augmented the UF collection. For more information about supporting the collection, please contact the Office of Development at (352) 273-2505.

How will the Friends use your investment?

- Preservation – Protect, preserve and digitize the collection
- Access – Promote and expand access to the collection's digital library space
- Collection – Collaborate with other universities, libraries and museums to acquire additional research materials to expand and exhibit the Panama Canal Museum Collection

We invite you to join the Friends to help the George A. Smathers Libraries support the digitization, preservation and processing of the Panama Canal Museum Collection, and to provide for global access through local, traveling and online exhibits.
